The Law of Newspapers.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.

2. If subscribers wish the circulation of their newspapers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrears are paid.

3. If subscribers refuse or neglect to take their newspapers from the offices to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled the bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers remove to other places without informing the publishers, and the newspapers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

5. The Courts have decided that permitting to take newspapers from the offices to remove and leaving them unpaid is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.
